

It's a case for
Detective Sergeant Factual

"The facts ma'am, just the facts"

The Diner

Jack and Bill had been driving a while on an unfamiliar road when they arrived at a small diner. It looked good, so they decided to stop. There were a half dozen Harley motorcycles parked near the door. Jack and Bill paused a moment to admire the motorcycles. When they opened the door to the diner, they saw six very large men with scruffy beards, sleeveless jackets, and tattoos on their arms sitting at the counter. Bill said to Jack, "Do you think there might be another place to eat a little further on?" Jack said, "Ah, yes," and they both left and went to their car.

- | | | | |
|--|---|---|---|
| 1. Jack & Bill were familiar with the road and diner | T | F | ? |
| 2. There were motorcycles all over the lot | T | F | ? |
| 3. Bill admired the motorcycles near the door | T | F | ? |
| 4. Jack wished he had a Harley | T | F | ? |
| 5. Bill and Jack did not care for the menu,
and decided to leave. | T | F | ? |
| 6. Jack did not like big men. | T | F | ? |
| 7. The men at the counter were from a motorcycle gang. | T | F | ? |
| 8. Bill was afraid of the men. | T | F | ? |

1. F. It was an unfamiliar road and they had apparently not seen the diner before.
2. ? We do not know how many other motorcycles may have been there, other than the six by the door.
3. T. The paused to admire the motorcycles
4. ? We do not know. Maybe he would have preferred a Honda.
5. ? Sometimes menus are posted outside the door but we were not told if they looked at one.
6. ? The story failed to tell us.
7. ? Nothing was said about a gang affiliation
8. ? Again, the story failed to tell us.

It's a case for Detective Sergeant Factual

"The facts ma'am, just the facts"

The Diner

Jack and Bill had been driving a while on an unfamiliar road when they arrived at a small diner. It looked good, so they decided to stop. There were a half dozen Harley motorcycles parked near the door. Jack and Bill paused a moment to admire the motorcycles. When they opened the door to the diner, they saw six very large men with scruffy beards, sleeveless jackets, and tattoos on their arms sitting at the counter. Bill said to Jack, "Do you think there might be another place to eat a little further on?" Jack said, "Ah, yes," and they both left and went to their car.

- | | | | |
|--|---|---|---|
| 1. Jack & Bill were familiar with the road and diner | T | F | ? |
| 2. There were motorcycles all over the lot | T | F | ? |
| 3. Bill admired the motorcycles near the door | T | F | ? |
| 4. Jack wished he had a Harley | T | F | ? |
| 6. Bill and Jack did not care for the menu,
and decided to leave. | T | F | ? |
| 6. Jack did not like big men. | T | F | ? |
| 7. The men at the counter were from a motorcycle gang. | T | F | ? |
| 8. Bill was afraid of the men. | T | F | ? |

